

EDITORIAL

real people living real lives in real homes

What distinguishes AT HOME from the crowd is that the magazine is regionally focused. The stories, products, artists, services, and stores featured in the magazine are all sourced locally and can be found right outside your front door. From our pages to your tables, floors, walls, or yards: The goods are just a phone call, a quick errand, or a short drive away.

From modern to classic, we've got it covered. Editor Christy Marshall and an experienced team of writers with a local edge leave no stone unturned in instructing and educating St. Louis consumers. Since your home is truly where your heart is, each editorial feature is filled with knowledge and insight, helpful listings, tips on home design, stunning color photos, the latest trends and the hottest profiles—all of which inform and inspire.
